We are bubbling over with thanks to our God for the many "God-Stories" that have come out of the work God did in and through us at Calvary on Campus and the Wham! Bam! Jesus Jam! on September 19th. We are taking the next couple of weeks to share some of that with you. Read them and celebrate with us!

Calvary on campus hit me in an unexpected way this week. I was sitting close to the stage, so I didn't see how many people were there until I decided to turn around and look in the middle of one of the songs. For some reason, in that moment, my entire Penn State career came together. This is my senior year and I hadn't reflected on my time here as a whole until Sunday. Penn State has been my college and my employer, and Calvary has been my church for as long as I have been a college student. Gathering in Eisenhower brought together everything I have experienced here. Everything was represented on that Sunday: school, work, church, friends, and a whole lot of life learning.

The question at the beginning of the sermon "Do you know how much you are loved?" literally brought a tear to my eye. I realized, possibly for the first real time, that I had survived and learned a lifetime of lessons in the past three years of my life-now I am able to see God in every piece of it. Through each academic challenge, relationship issue, hard day at work, and especially in my many mistakes, I have seen God's love. I didn't see it or call it that at the time, but now I recognize his protection over me and his forgiveness for my stupidities.

I will be student teaching this spring, which means that I had to get many background checks and clearances to enter the school. I only say that to preface the fact that I have made several mistakes that could have kept me out of the classroom forever, but God patiently carried me through some very difficult lessons. Before I ever even imagined that I would be a teacher, God protected my career.

Standing, singing, surrounded by a few thousand people I felt God's love as a real, tangible gift for the first time in my life.
